

Greetings from the President

Dear Friends of Louisville,

It is with great excitement and gratitude that I send greetings and best wishes to all who read this new publication, The Royal View. This magazine replaces The Alumna which traditionally has been mailed only to our alumnae and their parents. It will now reach all our constituents, current and past students and parents, friends and benefactors of Louisville High School two times a year. It is our goal to recognize and applaud the accomplishments of many who have made considerable contributions to the life of Louisville, highlight current activities on campus, and share information about our revered alumnae. Please enjoy this inaugural issue of The Royal View and let us know how you like it and/or how we can make improvements in the future.

As I write this letter, the second semester is in full swing and, as we look toward the future, we are filled with hope. Louisville has maintained a tradition of academic excellence for 47 years establishing a reputation for offering a quality Catholic education. One-hundred percent of our young women are traditionally accepted into the college or university of their choice. Louisville is blessed with a committed faculty which constantly challenges students and prepares them for higher learning and life lessons. Our young women are encouraged to be critical thinkers and to demonstrate competency in all of their learning experiences. In this environment, the young women's spiritual, social, artistic and athletic talents are nurtured and promoted.

Although our enrollment is at capacity, Louisville is constantly challenged to keep tuition and fees affordable for all applicants. Unfortunately, many outstanding families cannot afford to send their daughters to Louisville without receiving some form of financial assistance or scholarship. Our goal this year is to increase the amount of financial aid we currently provide so that the dreams of those families can be fulfilled. In order to be in a position to do this, we must rely on philanthropic support, fundraising events, as well as the generosity of all our constituents. It is my hope that all families desirous of a Catholic education at Louisville will be given this opportunity. For those who would like to help, I want you to know that any gift, no matter how small, is acceptable and will be appreciated by the young women you help.

Thank you for your support and commitment to the mission of Louisville High School. You and your families are, as always, in my prayers and the prayers of the Sisters of St. Louis. May God continue to bestow His abundant blessings upon you and your families.

Sincerely,

Sr. Myra McPartland, S.S.L., President

*Give to the young under your direction your care and affection.
Try to touch their hearts by the care you show them,
as it were under the shadow of your wings.*
